

Time	Chair	Title	Authors & Affiliations
14 January
9:00	Registration
9:30	Opening ceremony
9:40	Bert Vaux	The House that Jakobson Built: Slavic phonology, generative phonology, and roads (not) taken	Pavel Iosad (University of Edinburgh)
10:40	Tea, coffee and pastries (Bateman Room)
10:50	Pavel Iosad	Markedness and Exceptionality	Chris Golston (California State University Fresno), Christian Paulsen (Fresno City College)
11:10		Formalizing phonological knowledge versus usage with weighted logic	Scott Nelson (University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign)
11:30		Against Occam's razor	Rory Turnbull (Newcastle University)
11:50	Break (refreshments still available at Bateman Room)
12:00	Sharon Peperkamp	Evidence from dichotic listening suggests that gaps in initial RT clusters are accidental	Martin Lemaitre, Tobias Scheer (Université Côte d'Azur, CNRS), Lucie Braunerová, Anna Polomská, Markéta Ziková (Masaryk University, Brno)
12:20		Hierarchy of difficulty in the acquisition of dynamic alternations	Zsuzsanna Bárány (The Open University & HUN-REN), Zoltán G. Kiss (Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest)
12:40		Pluralia Adriatica: Unified Exponence of the Plural across categories in Fiuman and Zaratín	Nicola Lampitelli (Université Paris Nanterre, MoDyCo UMR7114 CNRS), Marko Simonović (Universität Graz)
13:00	Lunch
14:00	Poster session 1 (Long Room)
Tea, coffee and biscuits (available throughout the sessions at Bateman Room)
14:30		Georgian pre-sonorant syncope is no longer phonological	Deepthi Gopal (Uppsala University)
		Command and Align	Chris Golston (California State University Fresno)
		Palatalization is a lexically triggered phonological process operating at multiple levels	Anna Polomská (Masaryk University, Brno)
		How to model stylistic variation in phonology: one or multiple grammars?	Benjamin Storme (Leiden University)
		On efficient constraint optimisation	Paul Siewert (University of Cambridge)
		Sonority and language attitudes: Indexicality versus iconicity	Simon David Stein (Heinrich Heine University Düsseldorf)
14:30	Poster session 2 (Long Room)
15:00	Natalia Kuznetsova	Effects of Passive Exposure in Second Language Phoneme Acquisition	Julika Weber, Ingo Plag (Heinrich-Heine University Düsseldorf)
		The influence of orthography on second language perception: an experiment with Marathi listeners of German and Dutch	Maxim Dauenhauer (University of Amsterdam; University of Marburg)
		Stress-conditioned contrast maintenance: disentangling the role of acoustics and attention	Riccardo Orrico, Simon Major, Sharon Peperkamp, Maria Giavazzi (LSCP, ENS-PSL & University of Oxford)
		Acoustic Markers of Corrective Focus in L1 Polish and L2 English	Mariola Kaszycka (The John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin), Marzena Żygis, Eugeniusz Cyran
		Exploring the interaction of semantic priming and lexical frequency in German prosodic structure	Tianyi Zhao (University of Konstanz)
		Phonologising 'phonetic erosion': the daughters of Latin ille	Fae Hicks (University of Edinburgh)
15:00	Natalia Kuznetsova	Convergent Equilibria in Cross-Lingual Phoneme Surprisal Distributions: Statistical and Simulation-Based Analysis	Suchir Salhan, Fermín Moscoso del Prado Martín (Department of Computer Science & Technology, University of Cambridge)
15:20		From Oman to Georgia and back, carrying an idle glottis	Joaquim Brandão de Carvalho, Noam Faust (SFL/Paris 8), Nicola Lampitelli (Université Paris Nanterre, MoDyCo UMR7114 CNRS)
15:40		The Distribution of Phonemic Contrasts across the World's Languages: Chance, costs, and integration across linguistic tiers	Fermín Moscoso del Prado Martín, Suchir Salhan (University of Cambridge)
16:00–18:00	Drinks reception (Long Room)
15 January
9:30	Bert Vaux	Gestural representation of vowels — towards a typology	Patrycja Strycharczuk (University of Manchester)
10:30	Tea, coffee and pastries (Bateman Room)
10:40	Patrycja Strycharczuk	Unstressed diphthongs in English are all fake	Péter Szigetvári (Eötvös Loránd University)
11:00		When is vowel reduction (not) about predictability?	Deepthi Gopal (Uppsala University), Stephen Nichols, László Karoly, Pavel Iosad (University of Edinburgh)
11:20		Akebu (Kwa): a unique vowel system with three [-ATR] central vowels?	Natalia Kuznetsova (Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore, Milan)
11:40	Break (refreshments still available at Bateman Room)
11:50	Björn Köhnllein	Who wins out? Vowel preservation and nucleus selection in syllable contraction	Jarry Chia-Wei Chuang (National Tsing Hua University)
12:10		Phonologically overspecified exponents cause both polarity and disharmony	Dominique Bobeck (University of Leipzig)
12:30		(In)complete /t d/ deletion in American English – a motion capture study	Karolina Broś (University of Warsaw), Peter A. Krause (California State University Channel Islands)
12:50	Lunch
13:50	Poster session 3
14:20	Long Room	How coronal blocking of initial consonant mutation reflects domain structure in Irish	Anna Laoide-Kemp (University of Edinburgh)
		Contrasting accounts of consonant gradation in Northern Sámi	Jackson Herrera (Harvard University)
		Native phonology shapes the perception of non-native voicing contrasts: an experimental study	Anna Stolařová (Masaryk University)
Bateman Auditorium	Predictability effects on contrastive hyperarticulation	Justin Bai (University of Colorado Boulder)
	Loanword-final vowel insertion in standard Italian spoken in Florence	Olga Broniś (Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński University in Warsaw)
	Feature spreading and redundancy with BMRS	Scott Nelson (University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign), Eric Baković (UC San Diego)
14:20	Poster session 4
15:00	Long Room	Morphological stød alternations in Danish	Annika Høeg (Stockholm University)
		Blurry word boundaries: procedural vs. representational analyses of Ancient Greek	Adèle Jatteau (Université de Lille)
		Spanish, English and Dutch versus Guaraní: prosody and sound patterns	Daan van Soeren (University of Amsterdam)
Bateman Auditorium	Correlation between word-final consonants and stress position in Catalan	Xevi Pujol-Molist (University of Barcelona)
	Quantifying Disharmony in Turkish Roots: The Case of French Loanwords	Turan Hanci, Benjamin Storme (Leiden University)
	Andoke word-level prosody: A preliminary view on a mixed stress / tone system	Jacob Menschel (University of Cologne)
15:00	Poster session 5
Tea, coffee and biscuits (available throughout the sessions at Bateman Room)
15:30	Long Room	Vowel rounding: between phonetics and phonology	Aleksey Andronov (Institute of Slavic Studies of the Russian Academy of Sciences)
		Re-evaluating the vowel system of Truku: A phonological perspective on schwa	Kuniya Nasukawa, Hitomi Onuma, Phillip Backley (Tohoku Gakuin University), Masatoshi Koizumi (Tohoku University)
		An articulatory study of high vowels in Norwegian. A case against feature [± front]	Malgorzata Cavar (Indiana University), Przemysław Pawelec (University of Wrocław)
Bateman Auditorium	Devoicing and obligatory length in the North Saami vowel system	Radu Craioveanu (Saint Mary's University)
	Tautosyllabic high vowel sequences in Catalan: an acoustic and phonological analysis	Irene Mitjavila-Casals, Clàudia Pons-Moll (Universitat de Barcelona)
	A principle of balancing non-alternation and alternation in tonal metres	Yuxuan Melody Wang (Harvard University)
15:30	Poster session 6
16:00	Long Room	Moraic suffixation in Rushan Mandarin	Yanyan Sui (China University of Geosciences, Beijing)
		[k]-allomorphs in Mapudungun: accounting for [-kile] and other inflectional affixes	Aldo Berrios Castillo (University of Edinburgh)
		Lexicalization and modularity in the Finnish Stem Constraint	Yuni Kim (University of Surrey)
Bateman Auditorium	Modeling Mandarin Phonotactics: Categorical vs. Gradient Approaches	Yang Liu (Stony Brook University)
	Morphologically specific constraints are learned over general for Arabic OCP	Lily Xu (University of California, Los Angeles)
	Similarity avoidance and Non-Derived Environment Blocking in Classical Arabic	Hamza Khwaja (Leiden University)
16:00	Break (refreshments still available at Bateman Room)
16:10	Michela Russo	Morphological Lengthening in Eastern Nuer Targets Both Consonants and Vowels	Irina Monich (Wayne State University)
16:30		Grammatical consequences of Zipf's Law of Abbreviation in Hungarian	Péter Rebrus (ELTE Research Centre for Linguistics), Miklós Törkenczy (Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest)
16:50		Morphological effects in phonological change: The shift from trapped to syllabic liquids in Czech	Markéta Ziková, Martin Březina (Masaryk University, Brno)
18:00–20:00	Conference dinner (Old Courts Main Hall)
16 January
9:00	Ingo Plag	Why metrical strength is best expressed with foot structure	Björn Köhnllein (The Ohio State University)
9:20		Beyond Locality: Proparoxytone Metaphony and Morphophonological Domains in Romance	Michela Russo (SFL U. Paris 8/CNRS & U. Lyon)
9:40		Explaining light initial vowels in "moraic onset" languages	Noam Faust (Université Paris 8, CNRS SFL), Shanti Ulfssbjorninn (Memorial University, Newfoundland)
10:00	Tea, coffee and biscuits (Bateman Room)
10:10	Deepthi Gopal	There are more lenis obstruents in English than you'd think	Zoltán G. Kiss, Péter Szigetvári, Vencel Wutka (Eötvös Loránd University)
10:30		Minimal word constraint in Turkish final devoicing	Gökтуğ Börtlü (Selçuk Üniversitesi), Eugeniusz Cyran (Catholic University Lublin), Tobias Scheer (Université Côte d'Azur, CNRS)
10:50		Stratal OT and Scottish Gaelic initial mutation/prothesis	Donald Alasdair Morrison
11:10	Break (refreshments still available at Bateman Room)
11:20	Brechtje Post	Segmental and tonal near-merger: insights from Beijing retroflex suffixation	Yutong Wang (University of Cambridge), Mitko Sabev (Universität des Saarlandes), Brechtje Post (University of Cambridge)
11:40		An indexed constraint account of incomplete neutralization in Hui'an Mandarin	Aleksei Nazarov (Utrecht University)
12:00		Tonal Circumclitics: A modular approach to Tonosyntax	Sören E. Tebay (Universität Leipzig)
12:20	Break (refreshments still available at Bateman Room)
12:30	Chris Golston	Sonorants and the feature [voice]	Martin Krämer (UiT The Arctic University of Norway)
12:50		Sonority-conditioned reduplicant shape in Wubuy	Peter Nyhuis (University of Surrey)
13:10		The ghosts of Manam: a GSR analysis of V~ø alternations	Vera Rusyanova (University of Leipzig)
13:30	Lunch
14:30	Tea, coffee and biscuits (Bateman Room)
14:30	Noam Faust	Typological rarities and learning biases: The case of syllable-copy reduplication	David Schwitzgebel, Sharon Peperkamp (LSCP, École normale supérieure, Paris)
14:50		Modeling biases, learning, and sound change: coarticulatory to allophonic nasalization	Cerys Hughes (Surrey Morphology Group)
15:10		Specific before default in phonological learning	Esther Chen, Katya Pertsova (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill)
15:30	Break (refreshments still available at Bateman Room)
15:40	Martin Krämer	From perception to phonology: Vowel height alternations in S.J.Q. Chatino	Katya Pertsova, Jamillah Rodriguez (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill)
16:00		Spanish diminutives: stratification, allomorphy and prosodic prespecification	Francesc Torres-Tamarit (Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona)
16:20		Differences within aspiration languages and the internal structure of [H]	Makoto Umeno (The University of Osaka)
16:40–17:00	Closing remarks & business meeting		